13. Gaps

Score / 0 pts

1. Insufficient Integration of Contemporary Global Practices: The syllabus focuses heavily on traditional Indian ethos, values, and models, which, while valuable, may not fully prepare students for the dynamic and globalized business environment. Limited coverage on how Indian values and management principles can be integrated with contemporary global business practices. 2. Technological and Digital Ethical Considerations: The rapid advancement of technology and digital platforms necessitates a deeper exploration of digital ethics, data privacy, cybersecurity, and AI ethics, which are not sufficiently covered in the syllabus. 3. Practical Applications and Case Studies: While there are mentions of contemporary cases and applications, the syllabus does not provide a structured approach for practical, hands-on learning through case studies, internships, or real-world projects.

14. Steps taken to bridge the gaps

Score / 0 pts

Incorporation of Digital and Global Perspectives: Introduce modules on global business ethics, digital transformation, and emerging technologies. Include comparative studies of Eastern and Western management practices and their applicability in a global context.

15. Suggestions for syllabus revision

Score / 0 pts

Integration of Global Business Practices: Add a module on global business ethics, covering international regulations, cross-cultural management, and global corporate governance. Encourage students to undertake comparative analyses of Indian and Western business practices.
